

PRIVACY POLICY

Effective Date: 1st of May, 2026

Welcome to Samay ("Company", "we", "our", or "us").

The Company values the trust, confidence, and privacy of its customers, website visitors, and users. This Privacy Policy ("Policy") explains how we collect, receive, store, use, process, disclose, and protect information obtained through our website, communication channels, online platforms, customer interactions, and related services.

This Policy is intended to provide transparency regarding the Company's privacy practices and to help users understand how their information may be handled while interacting with us. By accessing our website, placing an order, creating an account, subscribing to communications, contacting customer support, or otherwise interacting with the Company, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and agreed to the practices described in this Privacy Policy.

If you do not agree with the terms of this Policy, you are advised not to access or use the website or related services.

1. SCOPE OF THIS PRIVACY POLICY

This Privacy Policy applies to all visitors, users, customers, and individuals interacting with the Company through its website, online platforms, customer support channels, advertisements, promotional activities, or authorized business operations. The Policy governs information collected through digital interactions, communication platforms, retail interactions, and other lawful business activities carried out by the Company.

2. INFORMATION WE COLLECT

The Company may collect personal, technical, transactional, and behavioral information depending upon the nature of interaction with the website or services. Information may be collected directly from users, automatically through technological systems, or through authorized third-party service providers assisting the Company in its business operations.

Personal information collected by the Company may include details such as the customer's full name, mobile number, email address, billing and shipping address, city and postal details, order history, purchase records, account credentials, communication history, and information voluntarily submitted during inquiries, customer support interactions, reviews, or promotional participation.

When users create accounts or place orders, the Company may also maintain information relating to account activity, saved addresses, transaction records, preferences, and customer service communications for purposes including order fulfillment, customer support, warranty coordination, fraud prevention, and operational management.

Payments made through the website may be processed through authorized third-party payment gateway providers and financial institutions. The Company does not store complete debit card details, credit card information, CVV numbers, UPI PINs, internet banking credentials, or other sensitive financial authentication information on its own systems. Payment processing remains subject to the terms, security standards, and privacy practices of the respective payment service providers.

The Company may additionally collect certain technical and device-related information automatically when users access or interact with the website. Such information may include IP address, browser type, operating system, device identifiers, approximate geographic location, browsing behavior, session information, interaction patterns, clickstream activity, referring URLs, and analytical data. This information assists the Company in improving website performance, enhancing user experience, monitoring security, detecting fraud, and understanding customer engagement patterns.

3. COOKIES & TRACKING TECHNOLOGIES

The website may use cookies, pixels, scripts, tags, web beacons, and similar tracking technologies for operational, analytical, personalization, advertising, and performance-related purposes. These technologies may help the Company remember user preferences, maintain website functionality, analyze website traffic, improve customer experience, monitor marketing performance, and optimize advertising effectiveness.

Third-party service providers, analytics platforms, advertising partners, and social media platforms may also use tracking technologies on the website in accordance with their own policies and operational practices.

Users may choose to disable cookies through browser settings; however, certain features or functionalities of the website may become unavailable or may not function properly as a result.

4. HOW WE USE INFORMATION

The Company may use collected information for legitimate business, operational, legal, analytical, and customer service purposes. Such purposes may include processing and fulfilling orders, verifying payments, coordinating shipping and delivery, managing customer accounts, responding to inquiries, providing customer support, detecting fraudulent activity, improving website functionality, enhancing user experience, conducting business analytics, maintaining operational security, administering promotional campaigns, sending marketing communications, providing product recommendations, and complying with legal or regulatory obligations.

The Company may also use information to improve overall service quality, personalize customer experiences, maintain internal records, resolve disputes, enforce policies, and support warranty-related or after-sales service processes.

Aggregated or anonymized data that does not directly identify individuals may additionally be used for analytical, research, operational, or commercial purposes.

5. MARKETING & COMMUNICATION CONSENT

By providing contact details including mobile number or email address, users may receive communications from the Company relating to orders, shipping updates, payment confirmations, customer support, service notifications, promotional campaigns, newsletters, marketing offers, and brand-related announcements where permitted under applicable laws.

Communication may occur through email, SMS, WhatsApp, phone calls, push notifications, or other authorized communication channels used by the Company.

Users may opt out of receiving promotional or marketing communication at any time by following applicable unsubscribe instructions, contacting customer support, or requesting removal through official communication channels. However, operational or transactional communication necessary for order processing, customer support, legal compliance, or account-related matters may still continue.

6. INFORMATION SHARING & DISCLOSURE

The Company does not sell, rent, or unlawfully trade customer personal information to unrelated third parties for unauthorized commercial purposes.

However, information may be shared with authorized third parties where reasonably necessary for legitimate operational, commercial, technical, legal, or compliance-related purposes. Such parties may include payment gateway providers, banks, courier and logistics partners, shipping aggregators, technology service providers, cloud hosting providers, analytics platforms, customer relationship management systems, fraud prevention services, marketing partners, auditors, legal advisors, consultants, insurers, regulatory authorities, law enforcement agencies, or government bodies where disclosure is required under applicable laws.

The Company may additionally disclose information where reasonably necessary to protect legal rights, prevent fraudulent activity, enforce policies, respond to lawful requests, maintain operational security, or protect the interests of the Company, its users, or the public.

Only information reasonably necessary for the respective purpose may be shared with such authorized third parties.

7. DATA SECURITY & PROTECTION

The Company undertakes commercially reasonable administrative, organizational, technical, and operational safeguards intended to protect information against unauthorized access, misuse, alteration, disclosure, destruction, accidental loss, or cyber-related threats.

Such measures may include restricted access controls, secured systems, internal operational procedures, reasonable security practices, and protective technical mechanisms intended to safeguard stored information.

However, users acknowledge that no website, internet transmission, online platform, electronic storage system, or digital communication method can be guaranteed to remain completely secure, uninterrupted, or immune from cybersecurity risks. Accordingly, transmission of information through the internet occurs at the user's own risk.

8. DATA RETENTION

The Company may retain personal information for as long as reasonably necessary for purposes including order fulfillment, customer support, warranty coordination, legal compliance, taxation, accounting, fraud prevention, dispute resolution, operational administration, record maintenance, enforcement of agreements, or other legitimate business purposes.

Retention periods may vary depending upon the nature of the information, operational requirements, legal obligations, regulatory requirements, or dispute-related considerations. Information may subsequently be deleted, archived, anonymized, or retained in accordance with applicable operational and legal requirements.

9. THIRD-PARTY SERVICES & EXTERNAL LINKS

The website may contain links, advertisements, integrations, plugins, or references directing users to third-party websites, applications, or services operated independently from the Company.

The Company does not control and shall not be responsible for the privacy practices, security standards, operational policies, content, or activities of such external platforms or third parties.

Users are encouraged to independently review applicable privacy policies and terms before interacting with external services or platforms.

10. CUSTOMER RIGHTS & DATA REQUESTS

Subject to applicable laws and reasonable operational limitations, users may request access to personal information maintained by the Company, correction of inaccurate information, updating of account details, withdrawal of consent where applicable, restriction of certain processing activities, or deletion of personal information.

The Company reserves the right to retain information where reasonably necessary for legal compliance, fraud prevention, taxation, dispute resolution, operational continuity, policy enforcement, or legitimate commercial interests.

The Company may require reasonable identity verification before processing requests relating to personal information or account-related actions.

11. CHILDREN'S PRIVACY

The website and services are not intended for individuals below 18 years of age. The Company does not knowingly collect personal information from minors without lawful authorization from a parent or legal guardian.

If the Company becomes aware that information relating to a minor has been submitted without appropriate authorization, reasonable efforts may be undertaken to remove such information from applicable systems where feasible and operationally practicable.

12. COMPLIANCE WITH APPLICABLE LAWS

The Company undertakes commercially reasonable efforts to handle information in accordance with applicable laws relating to privacy, electronic commerce, consumer protection, and data handling practices within India.

Nothing contained in this Privacy Policy shall be interpreted as limiting any statutory rights available under applicable law.

13. POLICY MODIFICATIONS

The Company reserves the right to revise, update, modify, replace, or discontinue this Privacy Policy at any time without prior notice.

Any revised version of this Privacy Policy shall become effective immediately upon publication on the website unless otherwise specified. Users are encouraged to periodically review this Policy to remain informed regarding current privacy practices.

Continued use of the website or services following any modification to this Privacy Policy constitutes acceptance of the revised Policy.

14. CONTACT INFORMATION

For privacy-related concerns, questions, requests, or grievances regarding this Privacy Policy or the Company's data handling practices, customers may contact:
